New Naturals Collection

Barbara Barran introduced her New Naturals Collection in 2007. Now she's added some outstanding designs in even more biodegradable, sustainable fibers: hemp, nettle, linen, banana silk, New Zealand wool, and Chinese silk. The rugs are available in vegetal-dyed or natural, undyed fibers, and in your choice of sizes and colors. Choose from one of Barbara's designs, or have her create a pattern just for you. All of the New Naturals rugs are hand-knotted in Nepal at a GoodWeave factory (no child labor).

"PHILODENDRON"

The highly textured undyed, cut hemp peeks delightfully through the holes in the banana silk leaves. 100 knots.

2

"CHECKERBOARD"

Originally introduced in undyed hemp, which is tan, this nettle and silk version has a greyer appearance and a lovely sheen. 100 knots.

3

"TILT"

The clean, modern, graphic pattern highlights the luster of the banana silk fiber. Carving adds definition. 100 knots.

4

"BLOSSOM"

A low, New Zealand wool field provides a matte ground for the raised, Chinese silk blossoms. 100 knots.

5

"ELEMENTAL"

Inspired by a Deco design, this rug features textured natural linen and shimmering Chinese silk. 100 knots.

6

“HELIX”

One of Barbara's most popular patterns, Helix looks great in cut and looped vegetal-dyed hemp. 80 knots.

7

“DENIM”

The sauna-washed finish makes this rug as soft and comfortable as your favorite pair of jeans. 100 knots.
